ROMAN BANKS is an actor, singer, dancer, musician, and artist based in NYC. As a freshman at Shenandoah Conservatory, he auditioned for the open call of Dear Evan Hansen in February of 2018 and, as a result, was cast as the first POC young male understudy in the show. With this, he went on to make history as the first person of color to portray Evan Hansen. After departing from the Broadway musical, Banks went on to guest star on season two of the Disney+ hit series High school Musical: The Musical: The Series, portraying the newcomer "Howie." His original music, including an EP titled "Days", can be found on all streaming platforms.
